

ColorEffects Services Pricing

Effective October 1, 2016

1 hour Training: $20 includes our ColorEffects Mastery Packet

Prices may change without notice.

Our eyes are receptors of light vibration and interpret our experiences in far more elaborate detail than we can ever comprehend. When we see something that brings up an emotion, color may play a role in this event. Master business promoters know this and carefully plan advertising to influence consumers' reactions. Even a simple awareness of the power of color can make a big difference in how your prospective customers feel about you and your business.

Here you see three pictures of water above. How do they each make you feel and why? The two facing walls are the same shade of gray and yet they appear slightly different because of the pictures hanging on them. Color influences our environments. Learn to use color effectively and notice the difference.